Thanks, Jess.

As a side note, the discussion on the City's CSO program has been postponed until September, since we will be down a Councilmember at the meeting. Additionally, there will be a discussion item at this upcoming meeting about City signage – one of which includes ALPR signage in anticipation of the ALPRs on Mt. Olive Drive. Attached is the conversation between me and Sgt. Gaw. Wanted you to be aware in case a Council member decides to look at you for any LASD advice.

Hi Jess,

Would you be able to reach out to the deputy that responded to the 415E at 706 Winston Ave on 8/3/18 to see if there was loud music occurring when he chatted with the resident? There have been multiple calls at the property regarding loud music/party over the past 6 months, but this is one of the first that the deputy has chatted with the resident when responding.

I'm curious if he heard the music when he responded. If so, the City can issue an administrative citation since there has been a past warning.

Thanks,

Kevin

So those appear to be European as ALPR is referred to as ANPR (Automated Number Plate Recognition). Those would appear to identify you are capturing license plates which relieves you of the overview security from surveillance cameras but this also provides the specific details for countermeasures. This is usually using paper plates, or removing license plates and similar.

I am only guessing a more vague explanation would potentially keep the "bad guys" wondering what is being deployed.

Another word I see used a lot is "watch"

This city deploys an electronic "watch" program!

City watch deployed here!

Just other possible suggestions but if you want to just use "License Plate Recognition" in use! Also works and as long as you share the information with residents so they don't feel their privacy is being impacted, I think you should be fine. I would also run this by your city attorney.

This is great insight – thank you. Regarding legalities, privacy concerns, and other potential issues, do you have any more insight on the attached pictures? Picture 1 looks like its been used in other locations. Picture 2 is a bit hokey pokey, but a professional variation of it.

Thanks,

Subject: RE: ALPR Signage

Mr. Kearney,

To our knowledge, none of the city's that currently utilize our citywide cameras or ALPR cameras currently have posted signs of their usage. As I had previously mentioned you have to weigh the benefits and potential drawbacks of advertising the technology.

Signage can potentially assist with keeping suspects away from your area but you have to make sure that there is not an expectation from the residents or person(s) that because there is electronic surveillance being used, that their safety will be enhanced, in case something were to happen (previous example of a rape case that took place in a Walmart parking lot with signage that the area was under surveillance).

You also don't want the added "privacy issues" and litigation from the likes of the ACLU for privacy concerns, hence we try to leave words like "surveillance" out. Monitoring sounds better but we don't necessarily monitor but record for events.

Here are some different variations of verbiage but it will be up to the city to decide what they want the signs to say specifically convey to residents and others.

"This city uses electronic surveillance devices"

"This city uses electronic collection devices"

"This city uses electronic monitoring devices"

Hope this helps,

Sergeant John Gaw

Subject: ALPR Signage

Hi John,

Sounds like both Duarte and Bradbury are interested in having ALPR signs in the communities, as there is thought that the signs might act as a deterrent. Out of curiosity, are you familiar with these types of signs in other communities and would you be able to send us examples to check out?

Thanks,

Kevin
